

ABSTRACT

A method for mitigating defect formation in a phosphosilicate glass layer of a semiconductor device includes forming an oxide cap upon the phosphosilicate glass layer via a chemical vapor deposition process.